

Does Jesus Care?

Mark 4:35-41

Recap of Sermon on August 29, 2026

Pastor Rothschild Dangervil's sermon was based on the narrative in the Bible where Jesus and His disciples crossed the Sea of Galilee and encountered a violent storm. Although the disciples panicked as the boat filled with water, Jesus was asleep. They woke Him and asked, "Teacher, do You not care that we are perishing?" Jesus got up, rebuked the wind, and commanded the sea, "Peace, be still." Immediately, the storm ceased and a great calm followed. He then asked the disciples why they were fearful and why they had no faith.

Pastor Dangervil connected this scripture to the struggles people experience in life. Like the disciples, people face sickness, grief, financial hardship, uncertainty, disappointment, family problems, and other storms that cause them to wonder whether God cares. He emphasized that people often try to solve problems through their own strength. Then only after realizing they cannot, they turn to God. The disciples' greatest mistake was forgetting who had invited them into the boat and forgetting that Jesus was with them. Jesus' peaceful sleep demonstrates confidence in God even during difficult circumstances. It was emphasized in the sermon that believers can have peace in the middle of their storms because God remains present and in control.

An important point was that Jesus did not merely say He cared; He demonstrated His care by calming the storm. More importantly, the greatest evidence of Christ's love is the cross. Jesus left heaven, became human, suffered rejection and abuse, and died for humanity's sins. Referencing Isaiah and Philippians, it was noted that Jesus is acquainted with grief and willingly suffered to bring salvation and peace. His resurrection demonstrates His victory and power.

Pastor Dangervil assured listeners that Jesus cares for those who are discouraged, grieving, suffering, afraid, burdened by guilt, forgotten, or close to giving up. Although people may not be able to control their circumstances, they can trust the One who controls the storm.

In conclusion, Pastor Dangervil invited the congregation to trust Jesus and pray for those experiencing health, financial, relational, and other difficulties. Does God care? YES!! God is loving, compassionate, present in every storm, and continually cares for His people.

Call to Action: Put your faith in Jesus. If Jesus is in the boat, you will make it to the other side!

The Body's Master Alchemist

The liver, one of the largest and most multifaceted organs in the human body, serves critical functions that influence our overall health. Of all the body's organs of cleansing, the liver reigns as number one in the complex process of detoxification. The liver's multifaceted role in human physiology is both vast and intricate. As a cornerstone of metabolic and detoxification processes, the liver efficiently manages an array of functions. Some of these functions are:

Metabolizing Nutrients: Everything we consume goes through a liver checkpoint. Here, carbohydrates, protein, fats are metabolized, with bile playing a significant role.

Detoxification: Your liver acts as the body's primary detoxifier.

Storage: The liver stores essential vitamins (like A, D, E, and K) and minerals (such as iron and copper). This ensures a steady supply to the body as and when needed.

Blood Management: Apart from detoxifying the blood, the liver also produces clotting factors, ensuring wounds don't bleed indefinitely. Furthermore, it regulates blood composition to balance protein, fat, and sugar.

The impact of our diet on liver health is profound. Modern lifestyle choices, filled with processed foods, sugars, and unhealthy fats, place an undue burden on our liver. Vegetables are packed with nutritious elements. Both green leafy vegetables and cruciferous vegetables are good for the liver. The chlorophyll present in green leafy vegetables soaks up toxins from the bloodstream. Cruciferous fruits like cabbage, broccoli and cauliflower are rich in glutathione that trigger the cleansing enzymes which help in flushing out toxic compounds including carcinogens from the body. Fruits are equally important for the gut as they stimulate the liver. Fruits in the raw form or as juices are good for the liver. Citrus fruits not only stimulate the liver but also help in synthesizing the toxic materials into forms that can be absorbed by water.

Some Herbal Teas for the Liver:

Milk Thistle, Dandelion root, Oregon grape, Gentian, Yarrow.
Your liver deserves tender loving care. Take good care of it.
