

“The Place Value”

Luke 10:38-42

Recap of Sermon on September 26, 2026

In his sermon message, Elder Aaron Robinson started with a graphic that showed the difference between a penny and a $100 bill and explained how value is affected by position. Both contain the same basic components—a “1,” two zeros, and a decimal point—but their placement gave them dramatically different values. He applied this idea spiritually, emphasizing that a person’s spiritual place has a greater value than their perceived or “secular” value.

The message pulled from the story of Mary and Martha in Luke 10. Martha welcomed Jesus into her home, but became distracted by preparations and responsibilities. Mary sat at Jesus’ feet listening to Him. Jesus told Martha that she was worried about many things, but that Mary had chosen what was better. It was emphasized that Mary chose her place at Jesus’ feet and that choosing Jesus is something each person must do for themselves.

It was acknowledged that work, family responsibilities, goals, finances, relationships, and other everyday concerns are not necessarily wrong. The problem comes when these things become distractions from Jesus. Elder Robinson asked listeners to consider how much “mental real estate” these concerns occupy and encouraged them to prioritize their relationship with Christ.

Elder Robinson also warned that the devil can use people’s desire for greater status, money, recognition, or position to tempt them into compromising their integrity, family, faith, or other values. A seemingly higher position can carry a negative spiritual value if it is achieved through sin, pride, or compromise.

The story of the woman with the issue of blood was presented as another example. Although she was socially isolated and considered unclean, she moved toward Jesus, touched His garment, and her faith and proximity to Christ changed her situation.

Elder Robinson then addressed seasons of waiting. David, Joseph, and others experienced periods in which they remained in difficult or lowly places before receiving what God had promised. God uses such seasons to develop humility, character, trust, and dependence on Him. These seasons encourage believers not to rush the process.

Call to action: Placement determines the value and the greatest value is not in where you place yourself, but in where God places you. Trust that where God places you is where there is true purpose and value.

Herbal Weapons and Supplements
Against Viral Infection

As we approach the end of summer and the beginning of fall and the colder months ahead, there are certain steps we can take to prevent or help diminish the severity and duration of viral infections. Here are some recommendations.

Herbal Weapons

- 1. Ginger: It removes congestion, relieves headaches, soothes sore throat, and decreases inflammation.
- 2. Cayenne: It stimulates and warm the body and helps reduce fever.
- 3. Goldenseal: It destroys germs, and it is a strong herbal antibiotic.
- 4. Licorice: It removes excess fluid from the lungs, relieves coughing, sore throat, and helps supply energy.
- 5. Cat's Claw: Strengthens the immune system and inhibits viral replication, reduces viral load by 90%, and it significantly reduces cell damage.

Other Helpful Supplements and Foods

- 1. Vitamin A: Good for the health of the lining of the throat and nose.
- 2. Vitamin C: Strengthens the immune system and fights infections.
- 3. Vitamin D: Plays a significant role in immune function. It is an immunomodulator, meaning it is involved in the function of various immune cells, including T cells and macrophages. It helps prevent the harmful cytokine storm, an excessive immune response that can cause severe inflammation and multi-organ damage. Vitamin D helps strengthen the respiratory tract lining, thus reducing viral penetration.
- 4. Zinc: Inhibits viral replication and prevents the virus from binding to human cells. Zinc is also known to have anti-inflammatory and antioxidant properties, which help counteract the cytokine storm and oxidative stress associated with severe COVID-19.
- 5. Water, herbal teas, and homemade juices: Cleanses the body of toxins, and provides energy and strength.
- 6. Foods: Citrus fruits, bell peppers, legumes, raw nuts and seeds.
