KEY CONCEPTS

Paul consistently underscored Christian disciplines, such as prayer and gratitude. Thanksgiving was also a crucial element of his prayers and even a typical section of his letters. He not only expressed his gratitude to God through his prayers constantly, but also encouraged his audience to do the same. He saw gratitude as the fruit of God's work in one's heart. Quote from Emmons:
"The evidence is clear that cultivating gratitude, in both our lives and in our attitude toward life, makes us sustainably happier and healthier people."

THY WORD IS A LAMP

An opening heart to hear God in His Word transforms us.

We are vulnerable when our Bible is closed. Closed Bible Christians say: I'm fine . . .

I'm alright . . . I've tried that . . .
Build a new habit. Good works draw us to inquire to know God. God is bringing in a generation of people who has a relationship with Him.

What are you feeding on? The choice is ours. Ask the Lord to show us our daily life. Will you be changed by reading the Bible? We need to be transformed to be salt and light. We need a fresh douse with love and commitment with Jesus to bring us daily back to the Word God is doing amazing things. This year feed on the Word. Your mind will be renewed.

I will not drift . . . I will remain close to my Lord . . . I will listen . . . I will hear . . . I will be faithful in action.
