PARENTS AS PARTNERS: SUPPORTING STUDENT SUCCESS

At Metro-East Adventist Christian School, we are committed to providing a high-quality, Christ-centered education that prepares students to grow academically, spiritually, and socially. One of the most powerful ways to support student success is through a strong partnership between the school and parents.

As part of our ongoing "Parents As Partners" series, we share our program standards for parental involvement, highlighting meaningful ways parents can participate both in the classroom and at school events, as well as strategies for supporting learning at home. By engaging in these opportunities, parents help create a consistent, faith-based learning environment that reinforces the values and skills students are developing at school.

This week, we focus on the importance of parental involvement. We strongly encourage parents to volunteer in classrooms, participate in school events, and serve on the school board. Volunteering not only provides essential support for our teachers and students, but it also offers parents a rewarding experience, deepening their connection with the school community and actively contributing to their child's Christian education.

Whether you are a parent, grandparent, or know a friend or neighbor who could benefit from a Christ-centered education, we invite you to come visit MACS and learn more about how families can partner with us to enrich the student experience.

To schedule a visit or find out more, please contact Kristina Windham / kwindham@ilcsda.org / (618) 365-6440 to discuss how your support can be used to strengthen the lives of students, support our faculty, and enhance our mission.
