PARTNERING WITH PARENTS FOR WHOLE-CHILD SUCCESS

At Metro-East Adventist Christian School, our teachers are deeply committed to working alongside parents to support every aspect of a child's growth. From physical health and spiritual development to intellectual achievement and social-emotional well-being, we believe that children thrive when school and homework together in harmony.

By partnering with parents, we can provide a well-rounded, Christ-centered education that addresses the needs of the whole child. This collaborative approach ensures that students receive personalized support, guidance, and encouragement in every area of their lives, helping them to grow academically, spiritually, and socially.

Our dedicated staff strives to build strong relationships with both students and families, recognizing that meaningful communication and shared commitment are essential to student success. We believe that when families and educators work together, children are empowered to reach their full potential and develop the skills, values, and faith needed to thrive in life.

If you would like to learn more about how MACS fosters this vital partnership and supports students in a holistic way, we invite you to schedule a personalized educational meeting. Please contact Kristina Windham / kwindham@ilcsda.org* / (618) 365-6440. Together, we can build bright futures, grounded in faith and truth.
