"Therefore Jesus also,
that He might sanctify the people
with His own blood,
suffered outside the gate.
Therefore let us go forth to Him,
outside the camp, bearing His reproach.
For here we have no continuing city,
but we seek the one to come.
Therefore by Him let us continually
offer the sacrifice of praise to God,
that is, the fruit of our lips,
giving thanks to His name.
But do not forget to do good and to share,
for with such sacrifices God is well pleased."
Hebrews 13:12-16, NKJV

"Teaching from Nature," Part 1: Nature Testifies to God's Character/ Gratitude for What God Has Made

"While the Bible should hold the first place in the education of children and youth, the book of nature is next in importance. God's created works testify to His love and power. He has called the world into being, with all that it contains. God is a lover of the beautiful; and in the world which He has fitted up for us He has not only given us everything necessary for our comfort, but He has filled the heavens and the earth with beauty. We see His love and care in the rich fields of autumn, and His smile in the glad sunshine. His hand has made the castle-like rocks and the towering mountains. The lofty trees grow at His command; He has spread earth's green velvet carpet and dotted it with shrubs and flowers.

"Why has He clothed the earth and trees with living green, instead of with dark, somber brown? Is it not that they may be more pleasing to the eye? And shall not our hearts be filled with gratitude as we read the evidences of His wisdom and love in the wonders of His creation?" Counsels to Parents, Teachers, and Students, ch. 25, p. 185

("Teaching from Nature" is the title of the chapter. However, the parts and part titles are my own.)
