Dear Northwest Christian School Family,

This week is Teacher Appreciation Week, and it's a good time to pause and recognize the people who invest so much into our students each day. Our teachers give a great deal of themselves to this work. They plan, adjust, encourage, and care for students in ways that go far beyond what most people see. They are steady, patient, and committed to helping each child grow academically, socially, and in their faith.

At the same time, we know that parents are the first and most important teachers in a child's life. The foundation you build at home—the values you model, the time you invest, and the guidance you give—shapes who your child is becoming in lasting ways. As Proverbs 22:6 reminds us, "Train up a child in the way he should go..." What happens at school builds on what is already happening at home, and Christian education is strongest when those two work together.

We're grateful for both. As we recognize our teachers this week, we also want to thank you for the role you play. Together, we're helping students grow into who God has called them to be.

Blessings,

Angela Johnston
