TODAY'S MESSAGE

The investigative judgment, as a historical and eschatological or end-time event, is not really threatening. What scares many of us Adventists is wondering how it relates to sin and righteousness. We're not sure that our belief in salvation by faith in Jesus Christ alone can hold up to a full-fledged judgment scene, complete with books of angel records for every thought, word and deed. The idea of having our lives investigated isn't too encouraging, and our assurance of salvation pales at the possibility of having our names blotted out of the book of life.

It's not our lack of understanding of how Daniel 8 and the 2300 days relates to Leviticus 16 and the earthly Day of Atonement that causes the sleepless nights. It's our lack of understanding of how the apparent bad news of the judgment relates to the good news of the gospel.

Most of us have been able to accept, at one time or another, that we cannot earn or merit God's forgiving grace. We have admitted that all of our good works can never purchase salvation.

But it's not the good works that have been causing us to lie awake at night, staring at the ceiling, is it? It's the other kind! We read texts like Revelation 3:5 and discover that even though our names may be in the book of life, it's possible they will be blotted out. We see signs all around that emphasize the nearness of Christ's coming. We see the sin and failure still present in our lives. And we are worried. We know we're not doing that well. And we begin to wonder where obedience fits in with what we've believed about salvation through faith in Jesus Christ alone.

It is a spiritual law that when you look to self, you are overcome. But when you look to Jesus, you are an overcomer.

It's a humbling thing to realize that you are just as incapable of dealing with your present sinning as you are to deal with your sins of the past.

THE HIDDEN WORD (SERIES 2)

1 Corinthians 14:15 (ESV)

What am I to do? I will pray with my spirit, but I will pray with my mind also; I will sing praise with my spirit, but I will sing with my mind also.
