From Pastor Tim’s Desk

The scripture for today: Matthew 19:17

And he said unto him, Why do you call me good? There is none good but one, that is, God: but if you will enter into life keep the commandments.

Jesus, in this text, uses the word commandments and He is clearly referring to the Ten Commandments because He names some of them individually. "It is the will of God that man shall reflect His character, and His character may be summed up in the one word "love" (1 John 4:7–12). To reflect the character, or "love," of God, we will love Him supremely and our neighbor as ourselves (Matt. 22:37, 39). If we inquire as to how we are to express our love to God and our fellow men, God gives us the answer in the Ten Commandments (Ex. 20:3–17), which Christ explained and exalted in the Sermon on the Mount (see (Matt. 5:17–48). All the civil laws of Moses in the Old Testament and the instructions of Christ and the apostles in the New Testament clarify the divine requirements set forth in the Ten Commandments and apply them to the practical problems of daily living. The young man professed to love God, but the real test of that love, Jesus says, is to be found in the way he treats his fellow man (see 1 John 4:20). "If ye love me," Jesus says, "keep my commandments" (John 14:15). SDA Bible Commentary, vol. 5 For the rich young ruler, "in a character otherwise lovable, one serious defect remained—selfishness. Unless the blighting influence of selfishness were removed, the rich young ruler could make no further progress toward perfection. Paul "suffered the loss of all things" in order to "win Christ" (Phil. 3:7–10). To secure possession of the heavenly treasure or to purchase the pearl of great price, a man must be ready to sell "all that he hath." But this, the rich young ruler could not bring himself to do. Here was his cross, but he refused to bear it." SDA Bible Commentary, vol. 5 May our response to the call of the Master be different from this young man. May we hear His voice and, without hesitation, follow Him.
